Ben Vegas and Maila Gibson

Na Hoku Hanohano Award Winning Contemporary Music Duo

Ben Vegas and Maila Gibson have been performing together, in and out of Hawaii, for over 16 years. Separately, they have their own musical accomplishments, but together they are celebrated as Hawaii's top contemporary music duo.

Ben Vegas has performed among many world-renowned artists like Stevie Wonder, Ray Charles, and Chaka Khan. In Hawaii, he is best known for number one hits like "Puanani," and "Maile Lei."

Maila Gibson has performed with artists like Kenny Loggins, Michael McDonald, and Natalie Cole. She is best known for her recording of "The Prayer" with Grammy nominated Hawaiian recording artists, Ho'okena.

Together, they are multiple Na Hoku Hanohano Award winners. Their first album as a duo, "Forevermore," received the 2011 Na Hoku Hanohano award for Contemporary Album of the Year. Ben and Maila perform weekly at the Disney Aulani Resort and recently performed at Carnegie Hall in New York City. Their music was also featured in the major motion picture, "You May Not Kiss The Bride," starring Katherine McPhee, Rob Schneider, and Kathy Bates. Ironically, Ben and Maila are the most sought after musicians in the Hawaii wedding industry.
